

Prof. Alessandra Leda Valverde

(Department of Organic Chemistry,
Chemistry Institute, Fluminense
Federal University, Outeiro de São João Batista
s/n, Niterói RJ 24020-141, Brazil.
alessandravalverde@id.uff.br.

She has a degree in Industrial Chemistry from the Universidade Federal Fluminense (1994), a master's degree in Organic Chemistry from the Fluminense Federal University (1996) and a doctorate in Chemistry of Natural Products from the Federal University of Rio de Janeiro (1999). She's Full Professor and member of the Postgraduate Program in Chemistry and Postgraduate Program in Sciences Applied to Health Products board at Fluminense Federal University. She completed her post-doctorate at the Federal University of São Carlos (2018). She has experience in Organic Chemistry, working in the Chemistry of Natural Products, and conducting research on the following topics: Chemistry of Bioactive Natural Products with an emphasis on identifying substances with antitumor and antibiotic activity, among others. She is currently a Scientist of Our State (FAPERJ). She has been a member of the Brazilian Society of Pharmacognosy since 2019. Collaborating researcher in the Department of Biology at the University of Minho since 2024.