

	Tatiana Bonetti, BSc, MSc, PhD Adjunct Researcher Professor Molecular Gynecology Laboratory Gynecology Department Escola Paulista de Medicina – Universidade Federal de São Paulo (EPM-UNIFESP) Rua Pedro de Toledo, 781 – 4 andar. Vila Clementino. São Paulo - SP tbonetti@unifesp.br
Biomedical scientist qualified in clinical pathology, molecular biology and human reproduction. Master's degree in science with a focus on immunology/paediatrics, PhD and postdoctoral degree in science with a focus on women health/reproductive medicine/gynaecology. Postdoctoral degree in reproductive medicine from the Federal University of São Paulo and the University of South Florida (USA). Completed a training programme in clinical studies at Harvard Medical School (USA). Solid background in scientific methodology with over twenty years of experience in translational research, working in all aspects of studies such as design, implementation and documentation, along with laboratory procedures (molecular biology), data analysis and interpretation, and scientific writing. Extensive experience in scientific research, especially in the field of reproductive medicine. Currently, Adjunct Professor, Researcher and Advisor for the Postgraduate Programme and Coordinator of the Molecular Gynaecology Laboratory of the Department of Gynaecology at EPM-UNIFESP. Vice-coordinator of the Ethics Committee of UNIFESP and member of the Bioma Research team, an initiative of the BIOMA GENETICS Laboratory.	